Fitzsimmons the same dose I gave George Gardner. I reckon I'm coming along at the right time to finish the old man without much trouble. He's near out of it now, but to finish the old man without rater feature at Gravesend was attention trouble. He's near out of it now, but Usually the Brookdale has considerable he'll be a was-onee after this fight interest attached to its running, for Jeff might worry me, but I'm not the reason that it is always run two worrying any shout old Bob Fitzsim-days before the Suburban and is in

Fitz in San Francisco. The sailor and House, where the long surges from the mankiller and gambling sharp, decided a fair "solar plexus" punch was a "foul." Earp was a race-track stable hanger-on before the fight. He wore onds and had money to burn after-

THEN came Corbett-Fitzsimmons at Carson. One day in Carson camp came up a discussion of that already threadbare question, Fitz-simmons's age. I guessed that his starters.

"Nonsense!" said Jim, "he's forty if he's a day This'll be his last fight, all right. I only hope I don't injure the pld gehtleman seriously."
You know what Ruhlin remarked just a day or two before Fitz knocked him halfway into kingdom-come, six years "Poor old Fitz is a good fellow, but as long as he's in the fighting game still I guess I'll have to lick him.

It's time for him to let some of us young fellows have a chance."

I W San Francisco, before their second fight, Jim Jeffries said simply that "Fits was a great man once." He "felt kind of ashumed to fight the old mam, but people wanted to see Fits have another chance."

Fits hammered Jeffries to a pulp for eight rounds, until, both hands broken, he was helpiess as a battle-ship with levery gun dismounted.

George Gardner said to me, out in its casifornia, just before Fits whipped is Mailfornie, just before Fits whipped him for the light-heavy-weight title: "Fits was a good man once, but he's too old. I'm young and strong, and as I figure it out I'll beat him

Way:

"Why, say, Bob, this is the biggest pipe on earth. Poor old baid-headed Fits! Why, Bob, there won't be nothing to it at all. Goodness gracious! It will be a shame to hit the old manbut you knew I always need the money. On the level, though, I'll be ashamed to do it. My goodness! I wouldn't blame you if you wrote me up and said I was looking for easy marks."

And after all that "poor old, baid-headed Fits" came so near knocking Philadelphia's favorite son inside out in the sixth round that the police stopped the match thirty-five seconds before the gong, to save him.
